Woman Begueaths Millions to Small Coal Mining Town

PITTSBURGH, PA.—A little coal mining town 30 miles from Pittsburgh inherited millions of dollars left it by a wealthy Philadelphia woman.

Mrs. Mary Fuller Frazier, who inherited several million dollars in 1918, left all but $210,000 of her estate to the village of Perrypolis. Her will was filed for probate.

The amount of the estate was not made known. She inherited $1,350,102 in personal property and a large share of seven million dollars in real estate 30 years ago from her uncle, Alfred M. Fuller of Perrypolis.

After making 18 specific grants totaling $110,000 and setting up a $100,000 trust fund to provide a watchman and constant upkeep for the family mausoleum in Perrypolis, Mrs. Frazier left all the rest for public improvement to the tiny community of 1,300 persons.

Mrs. Frazier explained in her will that Perrypolis was the place where "I was born and lived, and where my father and mother lived and my grandfather and grandmother lived."

One-half of the bequest is to be used outright for "public improvements," while the remainder will be held in trust for the purpose of maintaining the improvements.

Michael Karolcik, grocer, theater operator and fire department chief in Perrypolis, said the money would be used to have the streets paved, public school repaired, a library built and the Perry township high school equipped with a stadium.

Life Insurance Lapse Rate Increases Since War's End

Although life insurance policy lapses have increased since the end of the war, reflecting the greater pressure of living costs on American families, the rate of such lapses is still about half the average for the decade of the '30s, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

Policy lapses and surrenders have increased materially since 1944, when the all-time low was reached, but the total life insurance outstanding and the policy funds also have risen sharply. Life insurance owned today is nearly 70 per cent over the 1940 figure. Policy reserves, a rough measure of the funds available to policy-holders, have risen by two-thirds in these same years.

Consequently, the ratio of policy lapses and surrenders for cash to total policies in force, while up from the abnormally low level of the mid-war years, is still well under pre-war levels. The 1947 ratio of ordinary insurance lapses, 3.5 per cent, compares with 2.8 per cent in 1946 and 2.2 per cent at the low point of 1944. The average rate for the decade of the '30s, however, was 8.3 per cent. Industrial insurance lapses have followed the same general trend.

Even more striking is the trend of policy cash surrender value payments. The aggregate of such payments currently is running at nearly twice the payments made in 1944 when the surrender rate was at an all-time low.

When Gas Rationing Comes, Here's How to Save Fuel

DETROIT.—With the anticipated gasoline shortage, particularly in the Midwest, the engineering division of the Chrysler corporation has conducted tests to demonstrate how gasoline savings up to 70 per cent can be achieved.

W. B. Rice, director of service, reported that the secret of the savings lay in:

1. Proper tune-up of the car, including ignition, carburetion, cooling system, oil change and chassis lubrication, and steering and brake adjustments.

2. Employment of proper driving techniques in handling foot throttle and brakes.

Tests showed that the first 10 per cent of savings were achieved by a tune-up of the car, Rice reported.

Moderate acceleration and braking showed a 60 per cent greater mileage over the "quick stop and start artists," he added.

One test over a 10-mile course in heavy traffic in Detroit showed that the moderate starting and stopping driver made 50 per cent fewer stops and averaged only 2 per cent slower speed.

Portable Elevator Saves Labor and Time on Farm

Easily constructed on the farm and powered with a fractional horsepower motor, the portable elevator-conveyor saves much back-breaking labor as well as time in the handling and storing of grains.

Cost of construction is estimated at about $1 per lineal foot, compared with $1.85 per lineal foot for ready-made equipment. Cost of operation also is low. Plans are available through rural electric co-ops.

Thorough Check of Silo Will Prevent Wastage

Silos will help to assure good use of this year's bumper crop of cornstalks. To prevent waste of the ensiled crop, however, the silo must be in good condition.

Thorough cleaning is the first step, entailing cleaning out the pit and scraping old silage off walls. Walls should be examined for air leaks, using melted paraffin to fill small cracks in mortar joints or between silo staves.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN

GOVERNOR THOMAS E. DEWEY

EARL WARREN

ALBEN BARKLEY

Urge Big Vote In Tuesday's Pres. Election

With considerable interest having been generated in the past few days a fairly large vote is now expected here in next Tuesday's Presidential Election. Off to a slow start, the campaign in this county has been limited officially to activity on behalf of the Democratic ticket. In other areas some activity has been seen by supporters of the Republican, States Rights and Progressive Party nominees.

A well-attended Democratic rally was held here Saturday night, and county Democratic leaders are mailing out a letter today to voters urging them to vote for the party candidates next Tuesday.

Political experts have predicted that Governor Thomas E. Dewey will carry Virginia, and that the Republicans will elect a Congressman in the Second District. However President Truman's stock has been picking up and now the issue in the Old Dominion may be in the doubtful category.

All groups agree on one thing: they urge all eligible voters to cast their ballots.

AMENDMENT TO ABOLISH ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Virginia voters will receive two ballots when they go to the polling booths next Tuesday. The first is the two-foot long presidential ballot. The second is a short ballot, which calls for a "for" or "against" vote on a State constitutional amendment to abolish a seldom-used committee of the General Assembly.

Trophy Given Lee Theatre Baseball Club

A championship trophy was presented to the Lee Theatre baseball team of Appomattox, at a Skyline League banquet Tuesday night in Lynchburg. Manager J. C. Caldwell and members of the local team were present.

Gold baseballs were presented, on behalf of Appomattox fans, to Vernell Mitchell for batting in the most runs during the past season; to Chick McKenna for the highest batting average, and to Al Horton for the pitcher allowing the least earned runs per game.

Lee Theatre won both the regular season and the play-off series in the league.

Mitchell had 7 home runs during the year and batted .376 in 226 times at bat. McKenna was at bat 161 times and hit a neat .414.

Lions Club Has Charter Night

The Appomatox Lions Club will have its annual Charter Night banquet tonight, at 6:45, at the High School Cafeteria. The occasion will also be a Ladies Night.

Each year in October the Club celebrates with a banquet the anniversary of the granting of its charter. Lion President George Abbitt, Jr. will preside.

At the last meeting new members added to the Lions roll were Dr. David Christian, III, and "Ned" Le Grand.

The county circuit court has been in session here this week.

High School Chatter....

Here we are again. I don't see how you folks are going to get rid of us, Oh well, if there are no complaints, we'll keep on writing.

If anybody sees Ed Cawthorne, ask him what the show was about Monday night. From what we heard he didn't see much of it.

Everyone is making resolutions to work harder this six weeks. Why? Did you say, "Oscar," oh, that's right You didn't peep at the report cards did you?

Oh, we almost forgot in case you don't know who "Oscar" is, he's our secret aid, who gets all the inside information on students and teachers. Don't turn around now, but "Oscar" may be looking at the expression on your face while you read this. Ha! Ha!

If you were a visitor at the school the other day you might have thought you were at a shipyard. Everyone was talking about floats and more floats, Floats with wheels that is, and they are going to be used in the home-coming day parade. Well, we won't tell you too much about it, so you can come out and see it yourself on Friday, November 5.

Oscar just reminded me that one of our fine friends is leaving us, You probably already know that I mean Wesley Lucas, and his family. We only hope that Wesley makes as many friends at his new school as he has here.

We are congratulating the home economics club initiating committee on the way in which they initiated their new members. Maybe the new members should have a bigger hand on the way they carried it out.

Oscar says he's been scouting the Amherst football team . By Saturday he says he will be able to tell us just what they have. Ha!Ha!

What time is it, Oscar? Oh, my goodness, it's time to go . . see you next week.

FARMERS WARNED NOT TO CUT ALL TIMBER NOW

Farmers and other forest land owners who think that now is the time to cut all of their salable timber should take a long look at price trends, says J. W. O'Byrne, forester at V. P. I.

Today's high stumpage and log prices make this a good time to sell mature trees and to dispose of low quality and deformed trees, but studies by the U. S. Forest Service show it is not good business to sell young thrifty trees which are growing rapidly, he stated.
